

EXPERIMENT

Everyone acts very uncomfortable around you, even though you are trying so hard to be nice. Why doesn't anyone believe you? Why is it so hard to remember what happened to you? You can't trust the police, or any adults really. The only allies you have are the kids who have been sheltering you in the abandoned school bus.

KEY SKILLS: SNEAK, CALCULATE, EMPHATIZE

ICONIC ITEM

Choose one or make up one on your own:

- Lab keycard
- Secret documents
- A stuffed animal

PROBLEM

Choose one or make up one on your own:

- They are looking for me.
- I have been living in the hideout since I escaped.
- Sometimes things happen around me that I don't understand.

DRIVE

Choose one or make up one on your own:

- I will get revenge on the people who tortured me.
- I want to make friends.

PRIDE

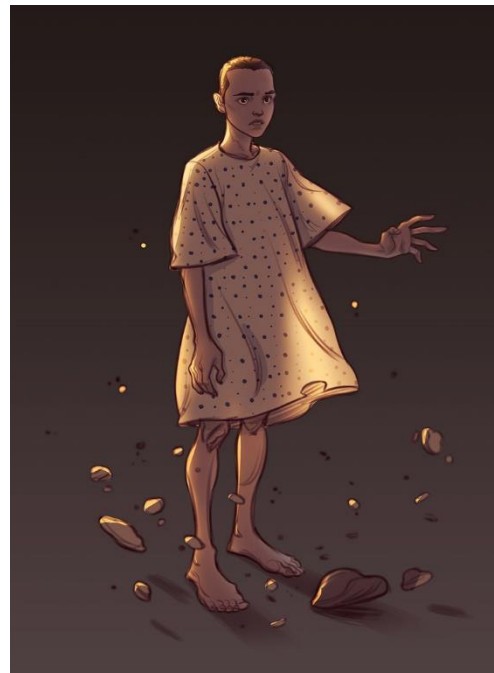

Choose one or make up one on your own:

- I can sense how people and animals are feeling.
- No one else really understands what's going on.

RELATIONSHIPS TO OTHER KIDS

Choose one for each other Kid or make up one on your own:

- He/she gives me food regularly.
- I accidentally hurt him/her and I feel guilty.
- I really like him/her but I don't understand the way people talk to each other.

Art shamelessly stolen from JMichek on DeviantArt

RELATIONSHIPS TO NPCS

Choose two or make up two on your own:

- I thought the school science teacher Gina was going to turn me into the police, but she agreed not to tell anyone about me after I solved a math problem for her.
- I saw a woman in the park who looked familiar. I think she worked at the lab. I have to avoid her.
- There is a very nice lady living behind the train station named Irene who gave me clothes after I escaped. I trust her and she answers a lot of my questions about the outside world.

ANCHOR

Choose one or make up one on your own:

- Homeless lady
- Sympathetic ex-Loop employee
- A wild animal that bonded with me