Him This is Noa from Spain. I'm an MCS and EHS woman of 50.

I asked Cathy, who very kindly gave me your address to send you this little project to try to find out people to share it.

After years of looking at Spain, I started looking to that area and finally went to visit. I have some Chalets with its own plot for long term (a year contract) for around 500 to 700 and expensiver.

I'm trying to move to west Algarve to finally be able to breath. Though we all know that there could be better places as this one is (some references on internet, specially EHS people moving to that area). Though unless you move to the desert won't be 100 % perfect, and even though.

I know the sea and swimming is very good for us either and this place is the only one in Europe where even in high season you can still go to some unspoiled beaches and be alone!. The landscape is astonished. It is almost all Natural park. And the sea shore, so so beautiful and magnificent!.

It has been awarded as second year most eco village in Portugal. No industries, the wind from the Atlantic constantly renewing the air everywhere. Very warm weather and a lot of little eco project around (look at Woof and Helpx).

I can not take one of this houses alone. But even with just another person would be ok, or even bigger ones like one 400m of the sea, 5 rooms, salt pool for 1800. Which could be like 360n/month for 5 people + expenses. And could be taken to live the all year or just to expend some time but having your space for you there always.

I know we all are different people and with this sickness it is even more complicated. But I consider myself a very polite, considered, tolerant and organized person who likes to share and also to keep my own space when needed. And that up on everything if you approach the circumstances from the calm and the respect to others and everything is talked in advanced, even set some rules to facilitate the coexistence, everything should be fine!.

Please let me know if someone could be interested to share with them the specific details, I let you here a link to some of the villages.

I hope to hear from you back. Thanks so much and regards!.
