

HEAR ME SAY THAT I SHOULD HAVE THOUGHT

Here, a few lines that reflect the society ...

One morning, while my companions ammenait me to school, I had a funny reflection on the part of one of my classmates. So, I had taken a few meters ahead, he had to walk with crutches, I heard:

- "But at last! The wait a bit, you've completely dropped back!"

Then another to answer:

- "No, but she is ashamed to walk around with an invalid ..."

It felt really funny to hear me say what I would have thought, when my nature is quite different. One could even go as far to say that it makes me "happy" to walk with him and his crutches.

devotee87.ek@plog.com