

The drawing shows a classroom layout with six rows of desks. Each row is headed by a teacher figure. The students are represented by simple figures with various facial expressions (happy, neutral, sad). Some students have speech bubbles containing simple words or symbols. There are empty rectangular boxes on each desk, and a large circle at the top of each row, possibly for a name tag or sticker.