This section contains tracing exercises for bridges. It features four rows of bridge patterns, each ending with a frog illustration. The first two rows are solid lines with a vertical arrow and a downward-pointing arrow at the start of the first arch. The third row consists of dashed lines with a vertical arrow and a downward-pointing arrow at the start of the first arch. The fourth row consists of dashed lines with a vertical arrow and a downward-pointing arrow at the start of the first arch. Below these are three rows of dashed bridge patterns for independent practice: a long row of 10 arches, a medium row of 5 arches, and a short row of 3 arches.
