

Henry, Henry, Henry,
Had so many
Wives that had to die
Henry Henry Henry
Had so many
Only one survived
Six wives in all
Oh the things they could do
If they hadn't married Henry
That was their downfall

The first was Catherine by name
She came from Aragon in Spain
Oh Poor Kate !
She married Arthur Henry's bro
And when he died Loved Henry so
But had to wait
He took her as his lawful wife
But that caused her a lot of strife
She couldn't have a son you see
Their only child was Mary Henry Henry Henry had so many
Wives that had to die
CHORUS
Most infamous
Was Ann Boleyn
But from the start
she couldn't win
well of course !
She was attractive to the king

But wouldn't love unless a queen
So a divorce !
She promised Henry a male heir
But had Elizabeth with red hair
« i have a little neck » she said
Before they chopped
Away her head
CHORUS
Jane Seymour was the next to wed
Betrothed the day Ann lost her head
No one did mourn
She loved the king and tried with might
And so much to the king's delight
A son was born
Prince Edward was a true blessing
Long awaited by the king
But soon afterwards Jane would die and poor Henry was left to cry
CHORUS
Anna of Cleves from Germany
Would be the next wife for Henry
She would not last
A Lutheran princess though she 'd be
He didn't like her face you see Annulment fact
He nicknamed her « The Flanders' Mare »
Divorced her without a care
She stayed in England and became

« The king's beloved sister » in name
Henry would be wed again to a cousin of Ann Boleyn
Kathryn Howard
A rose without a thorn said he
But her affair forced her to be Sent to the Tower
Culpeper was her cousin dear,
And her love so it appeared
This was high treason and so
Kate
Upon the block did meet her fate

CHORUS
And now we sing of Catherine Parr the most kindly of wives by far Number six !
Cared for Elizabeth and Ed
And old Henry ulcered leg
He was sick
After the king had passed away
She got remarried right away
But in a year she left this earth
Had some trouble giving birth
CHORUS
Two Annes three Kates
And one precious Jane
But they had to marry Henry and
It sealed their fate