

Paul and Emma were twenty years old. They were married.

It was summer and it was sunny. Paul and Emma were running on a cliff in San Francisco. They were running with their dog. They saw a beautiful woman. She was sitting on a bench. Paul looked at her. Emma got jealous. She yelled at Paul and pushed him. He fell off the cliff and died.

Emma screamed and ran away.