

MONSTER HIGH®

You won't be able to make up with me if you need my dairy.

©2013 Mattel. All Rights Reserved.

BDD85-0320

August 2nd

Oh my Ghoul! I was late again today! I don't know why I can't seem to be anywhere on time, but trying to get these vipers under control is such a hassle! As soon as I get my hair to be ssssscanily styled, a viper pokes its head out, and I spend another twenty minutes trying to put my hair back together again. I absolutely could not be late again today, otherwise I have to race onto set and rush through the make-up session, and I HATE rushing through a make-up session. If there is any one thing I like to take my time on, it is making sure that my make-up jobs are perfect! Anyway, I slithered past the set and found Veronica waiting for me in her trailer, thank Ghoul she is so understanding, and I got right to work on her make-up, taking my time to blend her foundation and line her eyes. Veronica and I can talk for hours and go over all the latest news on set while I get her ready. Sometimes during our chats, I have created some of the scariest make-up looks even, totally getting lost in the eye shadows and lip-gloss. Just as I was putting the finishing touches on her mascara, the production goblin called out that they were ready for Veronica on set. I quickly gave her a once over and smiled at my own handiwork, letting my vipers adjust her powder before she ran out the door. I slumped into Veronica's chair and sighed as my vipers began to clean and set-up for Veronica's next scene, my mind already drifting to the eye shadow i was going to use next.

August 10th

Finally, my new make-up palette arrived today! i have been dying to try out the new colors in this palette for weeks; it has the ghouldest colors i've even seen in my unlife! there are so many different ways to blend these colors together, and i can't wait to show them to venonica, she is definitely going to want to use these colors for an upcoming scene very soon!

Seriously, this palette is so maravellós, the colors remind me of the passeig de scancia in Bancelqnoana. i got some of my best make-up inspirations from the passeig, walking the boulevard and shopping with my mother. on sunny days, the passeig would practically be humming and glowing with monsters having lunch in the outdoor markets, and i would stop and do my make-up on site, changing my lip gloss to the most fright-ening color i had. sometimes when i'm here on set, a noise will whisk me back to my beloved Bancelqnoana, and i am in the passeig, painting my nails or shopping for a new make-up bag. Thank goodness i have a trip coming up soon, i can't wait to see my beloved Bancelqnoana!

circled her hair with scene spray. venonica appeared lost in thought and quietly replied, "my people haven't had a queen in 400 years. scantage states..... well, this has to just be a rumor." venonica bit her lip as i studied her face to look for any mistakes, and i could see that she was seriously worried. "ghoulfriend, if there is a vampire queen on the rise, i'm sure everybloody is going to make sure she's the perfect ghoul for the job." "yeah, the perfect ghoul," before she scooted out the door, venonica turned and told me to have a good night to Bancelqnoana. i told her i would be back before production on her next film began and not to worry, i was sure that all this vampire queen stuff would work itself out soon. However, venonica's look of concern didn't offer very much hope.

September 19th

Finally in Bancelqnoana! mom and i arrived last night, and the minute we stepped into La Feandrena, i felt like i was home. i quickly dumped my suitcases and hurried to the passeig de scancia to find my old friends. i could not help but notice the lights and sounds that bathed the passeig, and in that moment it felt like i had never left! After a quick catch-up and dinner with my ghouls, i slithered back to La Feandrena and unpacked my make-up, carefully organizing what i

August 15th

After i left set today, i got a call from my cousin Deuce. we don't get to hang out very much, but we try to keep in touch when we can. we both love sunglasses, although i like them more because they're fashionable; Deuce, on the other hand, needs them to protect his friends from his power to stone them. Tia medusa and Deuce are the only gorgons that have that power, the rest of us do not. not every monster knows that though, and it can be either irritating or convenient, depending on the situation.

September 18th

venonica wanted me to do her makeup for an interview on a morning TV show, so i took my new make-up palette to the studio today. Like i said, she could not wait to get her fangs into these colors! i dipped my brush into a gold color that had swirls of bronze glitter running through it and almost ssshhivered with delight. As i started to apply venonica's mascara, she began to talk about the whispers among her people about a new vampire queen being crowned soon. i gasped (which made my vibens hiss in annoyance) and started going on about how fabulous it would be to be a queen, but i noticed venonica wasn't sharing the same enthusiasm. "què passa, ghoulfriend? Aren't you excited?" i asked her as i would need for the festival tomorrow. uh oh, i just had a message from venonica on my coffin that says:

"miss you already! Hope you're having fun! BTW, they found a new vampire queen today.....call when you can."

i sent her a message promising to call her tomorrow when the festival was over. i got a feeling that this vampire queen business is just getting started.

October 1st

Festes de la mence was fangsolutely fabulous! just getting home from the trip, and i am exhausted! i had forgotten how busy the festivals can be, between the make-up and hair changes and actually trying to have a frightful moment with my friends, it makes being on set seem like a vacation. i had a chance to talk with venonica on my coffin in between costume changes, and i can't wait to get to the film set to see her tomorrow. This vampire queen thing has got her too spooked, and i'm starting to worry. i want to stay up and look at more pictures from the festival, but i so need my beauty nest, my vibens are starting to droop! off to bed. until tomorrow, adéu!!

october 6th

i managed to drag myself out of bed and keep my appointment at the old monsters' home before i went to the film set. while i was in bancelqnoana, i picked up some scenefiffic make-up and scenecessories and i promised the elden monsters i would stop by and give a few makeovers. i showed up with my make-up bag fearfully packed with foundations, eyeliner, all the mascara i could find and even a few pairs of fake eyelashes. i sat and dipped my fingers into the palettes, the greens and blues swirling together as my brushes swept across eyelids and cheekbones, giving them the perfect shade of decay. while i was there, one of the old monsters started to talk about the new vampire queen and how it was becoming the biggest news since the last queen ran away 400 years ago. my vipers and i were napt with attention as they described the scnitage and scandal behind the choosing of the queen. i tucked this information away (to discuss with veronica later) and i held up minions for them to see their new looks, which, of course, was met with screams of fright and excitement. i checked the time on my icoffin (late again, viperine!) and quickly slithered out the door, shouting promises to come back soon.

production goblin reminded us we had just a few minutes before the next scene. veronica rose out of her chain and gave me another hug (no bites this time!) and said she was glad to have me back. i quickly checked her fangs for lipstick and smiled, "good to be home too, ghoulfriend!"

i watched her walk on to set and shook my vipers. between the stories at old monsters' home and veronica's sudden disinterest in the vampire queen, i'm starting to believe things on this film set are getting more interesting than the actual film itself!

october 7th 2pm

i made it onto the set by the scales of my teeth and quickly began to set up for veronica's arrival. i finished and was sitting in veronica's chain, texting with deuce on my icoffin (he was asking if i had picked up a casketball jersey from the bancelqnoana casketball team he had asked for) veronica came in and gave me quite the fright! i laughed and gave her a quick bite...um hug...and we got to work on her make-up for the next scene. after we got all the details of my trip out of the way, (veronica loved the mini souvenir replica of la feandrena!) i asked her to give me all the latest on the vampire queen. veronica got that "look", which makes you feel like you need to cuntsey and reduce your conversation to "ma'am", and said "i can't be concerned with the vampire queen right now; there is too much going on with the film." this was a sudden change from her concern i had picked up on while i was in bancelqnoana. muy confuso!

i went back to the stories the old monsters had been telling about the vampire queen and knew that my bff was holding back on me. but why?

"are you sure, ghoulfriend?" i asked as i carefully applied veronica's frightliner. "positive," she firmly replied before a

ABOUT ME

Name: viperine gorgon

Age: 17

Monster Parent: stheno(steth-AN-uh) -sister of medusa

Killer Style: hippie boho chic. i like to be comfortable, and i never like scaling back when it comes to mixing different colors, patterns and fabrics together.

Freaky Flaw: some people wave, some high five, some hug... i bite. i just can't help myself. it's the way i show affection. i try to remember to just shake hands, but sometimes i forget.

Pet: in case you haven't noticed, under this mane of freaky fabulous hair is a rather active nest of vipers. i really don't have room in my unlife for anything else.

Favorite Activity: i love doing, shopping for and experimenting with makeup. i do my friends' makeup for dances and school photos, and sometimes i go to the elden monsters' home and do makeovers for the monsters that live there. they have great stories to tell, and i get to hear them. #winwin.

Biggest Pet Peeve: cheap makeup. might as well just use finger paint.

Favorite School Subject: art. painting, sculpting and color theory skills all come in handy when doing makeup.

Least Favorite School Subject: math. ok, i'm good at it; it's just not my favorite.

Favorite Color: shimmery gold and pink

Favorite Food: dates...stuffed with almonds and wrapped in bacon. deliciousssss...

BFF'S: veronica von vamp & honey swamp