THE AMARYLLIS ROOM

In Greek mythology, it is believed that Amaryllis was a quiet and shy nymph that fell in love with a shepherd, Alteo. Alteo had the physical beauty of Apollo and the power of Hercules, and did not return Amaryllis' affection. Amaryllis tried to win the love of Alteo by offering him the most unusual flower on earth. She sought counsel from Delphi, and showed up at Alteo's door for 30 nights dressed in white. Every night, Amaryllis would use a golden arrow to pierce her heart. When Alteo finally opened the door, he saw a vibrant red flower that arose from the blood that poured out of Amaryllis' heart. This tale gave the Amaryllis the meaning of determination, pride and dazzling beauty.
